MSCI Index	+1.1%	ASX All Ordinaries Index (All Ords)	+7.2%

[^] Source: EC Pohl & Co Pty Ltd

During the quarter, Berkshire Hathaway (NYSE: BRK) posted a decline of 5.7%; whilst Athelney Trust (LSE: ATY) was unchanged in British Pounds. The Flagship Investments (ASX: FSI) share price increased marginally, by 1.8%.

ECONOMIC COMMENTARY

Global markets over the June quarter were dominated by US led discussions on trade. Concerns over growth in the Chinese economy and "Trade Wars" have become a major feature of the global market. There is a risk that the US's major trading partners may now impose tariffs on US manufacturers as a retaliation measure. While the results of all this are still unclear, what is clear is that this sort of activity will create more uncertainty for markets which are already facing headwinds from future interest rate policy and a slowing Chinese economy.

During the quarter the US market was up 2.9%. This performance was relatively strong when compared to China which saw the Shanghai Comp fall 10.1%. The Chinese market remains weak on concerns related to growth in the domestic economy, the property market as well as concerns as to the impact of trade wars on the manufacturing sector. The flow on effects to commodity markets in terms of future demand are not yet fully known but investors continue to be nervous. The Hang Seng was down 3.8% during the quarter while the Nikkei was up only 4.0%. European markets were mixed with the FTSE 100 up 8.2% (driven by the movement in the GBP - in USD it was up 1.9%), the CAC 40 up 3.02% and the DAX up 1.7% while the Euro STOXX was up 1.1%.

In local currency terms the ASX All Ords Index was very strong during the quarter, up 7.2% but when converted into USD returns, this increase was 3.6%. The strong rally in the USD saw the AUDUSD cross rate fall 3.7%. Analysing the sub sectors within the ASX 200, the best performing sectors included - Energy +19.7%, Health Care +16.5% and Consumer Staples +11.9%. The largest detractors were - Telecommunications -13.7%, Financials +2.3% and Industrials +4.2%.

Commodity prices were under pressure for a large part of the quarter with concerns that economic growth in China is slowing. Both domestic consumption and the impact of trade wars has started to impact bulk commodities and we saw Iron Ore down 20.4% during the quarter. Hard Coking coal was also down 20.2%. Energy was relatively positive and is less affected by demand out of China. Thermal Coal prices were up 5.3% while Brent Crude Oil was up 14.9% to US$75.4/bbl, which help drive the large outperformance by Energy stocks. Natural Gas was also strong, up 12.3% for the quarter.

The USD rallied strongly during the quarter also with large movements against most major currencies. The AUDUSD fell 3.7%, the EURUSD fell 5.1% and the GBPUSD fell 5.9%. Currency markets are expected to remain volatile over the next few months given some of the political uncertainties related to trade flows.
